Aldo Carpi l'uomo, l'artista, il maestro - Elisa Biacca 2018-04-06

Aldo Carpi è una figura tra le più interessanti e umili del Novecento, sul quale molte pagine dovevano ancora essere scritte. La sua volontaria lontananza dalle avanguardie artistiche e la sua misura hanno fatto di lui una figura quasi mitica. Chi ebbe la fortuna di incontrarlo non lo dimenticò mai perché era impossibile rimanere estranei alla calda umanità di cui era dotato. Elisa Biacca nasce a Voghera nel 1989. Laureata cum Laude all'Accademia di Brera di Milano in Comunicazione e Didattica dell'Arte, segue dal punto di vista critico l'opera del pittore Pietro Bisio e si occupa della valorizzazione del proprio paese. Le interessano le storie chiuse in vecchie lettere o sepolte negli archivi che aspettano di essere raccontate.

Deportato I57633 Voglia di non morire - Manuela Valletti Ghezzi 2018-01-15

La vicenda incredibile di Ferdinando Valletti che nel 1944 venne arrestato dai nazisti a Milano per aver collaborato alla realizzazione dello sciopero generale del marzo presso l'Alfa Romeo e venne deportato a Mauthausen e in seguito a Gusen I e Gusen II, Valletti, dopo tribolazioni disumane riuscì a salvarsi grazie alla sua passione per il calcio. Nando giocava infatti nel Milan e alle SS mancava un giocatore per la loro squadra, lo presero e gli intimarono di giocare, Valletti sapeva che se avesse fallito sarebbe stato ucciso all'istante e così, nonostante le sue precarie condizioni di salute, rischiò il tutto per tutto e ce la fece. Giocò e si guadagnò un lavoro che gli permise di aiutare altri compagni e di salvare le loro vite. Tornò a casa nell'agosto del 1945 e conobbe finalmente la sua bambina. Ferdinando Valletti era mio padre. Nel 2017 Ferdinando Valletti è stato dichiarato Giusto tra le Nazioni Storia di settembre - Romano Battaglia 2012-06-07

Una donna interroga se stessa in un mese di voluta solitudine per sfuggire alla frenesia alienante della routine quotidiana.

Concentrationary Memories - Griselda Pollock 2015-08-25

In 1945, French political prisoners returning from the concentration camps of Germany coined the phrase 'the concentrationary universe' to describe the camps as a terrible political experiment in the destruction of the human. This book shows how the unacknowledged legacy of a totalitarian mentality has seeped into the deepest recesses of everyday popular culture. It asks if the concentrationary now infests our cultural imaginary, normalizing what was once considered horrific and exceptional by transforming into entertainment violations of human life.

Meaninglessness - Vlad Dima 2022-09-01

For too long, the approach to seemingly universal experiences like love, death, and even time in film has been dominated by the Global North. But what if such explorations developed horizontally instead? Drawing from both European and African cultural theorists, including Gilles Deleuze and Wole Soyinka, Vlad Dima invites us to consider what happens to postcolonial African film if we no longer privilege the idea of time. How else might we understand the cinematic image, and how would its meanings change? Meaninglessness: Time, Rhythm, and the Undead in Postcolonial Cinema is a study of meaning and meaninglessness through the figure of the undead, beginning with francophone Africa and extending to postcolonial France. Through the analysis of films like Mati Diop's Atlantics and Jean-Pierre Bekolo's Miraculous Weapons, Dima shows how the African cinematic image may produce meaning without any attachment to European time, and how that meaning is connected instead to the philosophy of negritude and to the notion of rhythm. Meaninglessness introduces the concept of the rhythm-sequence as a new way to understand the African moving image.

The Holocaust and Compensated Compliance in Italy - Alexis Herr 2017-02-14

This book analyzes the role and function of an Italian deportation camp during and immediately after World War Two within the context of Italian, European, and Holocaust history. Drawing upon archival documents, trial proceedings, memoirs, and testimonies, Herr investigates the uses of Fossoli as an Italian prisoner-of-war camp for Allied soldiers captured in North Africa (1942-43), a Nazi deportation camp for Jews and political prisoners (1943-44), a postwar Italian prison for Fascists, German soldiers, and displaced persons

(1945-47), and a Catholic orphanage (1947-52). This case study shines a spotlight on victims, perpetrators, Resistance fighters, and local collaborators to depict how the Holocaust unfolded in a small town and how postwar conditions supported a story of national innocence. This book trains a powerful lens on the multi-layered history of Italy during the Holocaust and illuminates key elements of local involvement largely ignored by Italian wartime and postwar narratives, particularly compensated compliance (compliance for financial gain), the normalization of mass murder, and the industrialization of the Judeocide in Italy. Valletti Ferdinando Alfa Romeo, Mauthausen and return - Manuela Valletti Ghezzi 2009

El cuerpo del duce. Un ensayo sobre el desenlace del fascismo - Luzzatto, Sergio 2020-02-13

En una entrevista Jung retrató a Mussolini como «el hombre de la fuerza física», con él «se tiene la agradable sensación de estar frente a un ser humano, mientras con Hitler se siente miedo». Seguramente, junto con Berlusconi, el duce es el líder político más corporal del siglo XX italiano. El consenso del que llegó a gozar se basó en su físico y en el dominio del espacio. Sergio Luzzatto sigue la pista de ese carisma a través de una visión panóptica del fascismo y del antifascismo cultural y político, pre y postbélico, incluyendo la gran literatura y la literatura de consumo, hasta completar una apasionante radiografía de las representaciones del dictador en el imaginario colectivo. Cuando la pasión se convirtió en odio, Mussolini fue vejado y colgado ya muerto en la plaza pública, en una «inolvidable, pero no memorable» orgía de violencia que precedió al rastro folletinesco dejado por su cadáver. En 1957, más de diez años después de su fusilamiento, por esas cosas que tiene la política, pudo por fin descansar en Predappio, su localidad natal.

The Complete Lives of Camp People - Rudolf Mrázek 2020-01-17

In The Complete Lives of Camp People Rudolf Mrázek presents a sweeping study of the material and cultural lives of twentieth-century concentration camp internees and the multiple ways in which their experiences speak to the fundamental logics of modernity. Mrázek focuses on the minutiae of daily life in two camps: Theresienstadt, a Nazi “ghetto” for Jews near Prague, and the Dutch “isolation camp” Boven Digoel—which was located in a remote part of New Guinea between 1927 and 1943 and held Indonesian rebels who attempted to overthrow the colonial government. Drawing on a mix of interviews with survivors and their descendants, archival accounts, ephemera, and media representations, Mrázek shows how modern life's most mundane tasks—buying clothes, getting haircuts, playing sports—continued on in the camps, which were themselves designed, built, and managed in accordance with modernity's tenets. In this way, Mrázek demonstrates that concentration camps are not exceptional spaces; they are the locus of modernity in its most distilled form.

Global Powers of Horror - Francois Debrix
2016-12-19

Global Powers of Horror examines contemporary regimes of horror, into horror's intricacies, and into their deployment on and through human bodies and body parts. To track horror's work, what horror decomposes and, perhaps, recomposes, Debrix goes beyond the idea of the integrality and integrity of the human body and it brings the focus on parts, pieces, or fragments of bodies and lives. Looking at horror's production of bodily fragments, both against and beyond humanity, the book is also about horror's own attempt at re-forming or re-creating matter, from the perspective of post-human, non-human, and inhuman fragmentation. Through several contemporary instances of dismantling of human bodies and pulverization of body parts, this book makes several interrelated theoretical contributions. It works with contemporary post-(geo)political figures of horror—faces of concentration camp dwellers, body parts of victims of terror attacks, the outcome of suicide bombings, graphic reports of beheadings, recompositions of melted and mingled remnants of non-human and human matter after 9/11—to challenge regimes of terror and security that seek to forcefully and ideologically reaffirm a biopolitics and thanatopolitics of human life in order to anchor today's often devastating deployments of the metaphysics of substance. Critically enabling one to see how security and terror form a (geo)political continuum of violent mobilization, utilization, and often destruction of human and non-human bodies and lives, this book will be of interest to graduates and scholars of bio politics, international relations and security studies.

Uncertain Lives - Jon Stratton 2011-08-08

Uncertain Lives is the first book to examine the impact of neoliberal policies on everyday life in Australia. Going beyond the discussions of multiculturalism that dominated the 1980s and 1990s, Uncertain Lives examines the persistence of race and racism in the Australian experience. While the governments of John Howard followed the rhetoric of neoliberalism in suggesting that market forces dominated social relations, in reality the racism that had been founded in the White Australia policy became again increasingly acceptable, and accepted, in a society no longer subject to the values of multiculturalism. Uncertain Lives tracks this racism from its pervasiveness in everyday life to the ways race influenced decisions about who would, and would not, be allowed into Australia. From discussions of asylum seekers to migrants to the ways that thinking about the border itself has been transformed, Uncertain Lives charts the recent history of the Australian experience. Uncertain Lives ranges over events such as the Cronulla Riots of 2005 and the 2006 Beaconsfield mine rescue and uses a variety of recent films to highlight the impact of race in a society where liberal and social democratic values have been replaced by neoliberal ideology.

Mio nonno è una vecchia grattugia arrugginita. Giuseppe Malagodi da Cento a Gusen - Edgardo Bertulli 2020-08-07

“Questa biografia di Giuseppe Malagodi è iniziata nel 2017, dopo che sono entrato in possesso di alcuni documenti famigliari custoditi gelosamente da mia zia, sua figlia, ormai novantenne. Quando vide suo padre l'ultima volta era il 10 dicembre del 1943. Lei allora aveva solo sedici anni, e fece strada a due agenti in borghese dell'UPI, la polizia della milizia fascista, che erano venuti in casa ad arrestarlo. Iniziò così un'attesa di circa un anno e mezzo in cui mia zia, mia madre e mia nonna non ebbero più contatti con lui se non marginali o indiretti, e che si concluse solo nell'estate del 1945 quando la notizia della sua morte divenne certezza attraverso la testimonianza di reduci scampati al lager di Mauthausen. Mia nonna impazzì, mia zia ebbe un lavoro come orfana di guerra e mia madre si chiuse in un doloroso silenzio che le impedì sempre di parlare di quell'argomento, anche con me".

Art and Humanist Ideals - William Kelly 2003

In a radical departure from the conventional art history text, this unique volume brings together a number of the world's great artist/image-makers and thinkers on issues of art and its expression for contemporary humanity. With early seminal texts by novelist Thomas Mann, theologian Paul Tillich, art historian Herbert Read as a foundation, the content then moves through late 20th century to post September 11' material with contributions by Lucy R. Lippard, Barry Schwartz, Suzi Gablik, Vaclav Havel, Philippa Hobbs, Elizabeth Rankin, Guenter Grass, Doreen Mellor, Douglas Kellner, Robert Godfrey, Ricardo Levins Morales, Nigel Spivey and others. It bridges grass-roots to academic cultural dialogue. Focusing on prints - limited editions, hand-pulled posters and photographs - it includes images from poster collectives, work by Peter Schumann from the cheap art movement', photographs by Judith Joy Ross, Dominic Hsieh and Nick Ut's powerful image Vietnam Napalm'. There are drawings and limited edition prints by leading artist/printmakers from Europe, Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Australia, and North and South America. It is a book that intelligently celebrates the engagement of art with life - with issues of social justice, peace, human rights - paying tribute to the seldom acknowledged contribution of Modern Art to humanist thought. In so doing, it reassesses what have been regional perspectives as compared to the world-wide contribution of humanist art.

The Beautiful Skin - Vlad Dima 2020-09-01

In this original and provocative study of contemporary African film and literature, Vlad Dima investigates the way that football and cinema express individual and collective fantasies, and highlights where football and cinema converge and diverge with regard to neocolonial fantasies. Shedding new light on both well-known and less familiar films by Mahamat-Saleh Haroun, Abderrahmane Sissako, Jean-Pierre Bekolo, Moussa Touré, Safi Faye, Cheick Doukouré, and Joseph Gaï Ramaka, among others, the study asks just whose fantasy is articulated in football and African cinema. Answering this question requires the exploration of body and identity issues, here through the metaphor of skin: fantasy as a skin; the football jersey as a skin; and ultimately film itself as a skin that has visual, aural, and haptic qualities. The neocolonial body is often depicted as suffering and in the process of being flattened or emptied. So frequently do African cinema and literature replicate this hollowed body, all skin as it were, that it becomes the very type of body that defines neocolonialism. Could the body of film—the depth of both characters and story within the cinematic skin—hold the key to moving into a post-neocolonial era, an era defined by “full” bodies and personal affirmation? This is the question Dima seeks to answer.

L'inferno dentro - Moreno Gentili 2014-12-11

La storia di un carnefice, e del collaborazionismo attivo, spietata ed efficace, che rivela verità inaspettate. Un medico italiano, giovanissimo, sceglie di andare a Berlino agli inizi del nazismo e di tornare poi a Trieste, nella Risiera di San Sabba, dal 1943 al 1945 e dimostrare così, una volta di più, la propria fede attraverso un abbruttimento ideologico e umano. Il monologo di un uomo che non è mai fuggito, forse protetto da complicità precise, forse solo dal caso, ma di certo mai pentito. Pagina dopo pagina, emerge qualcosa che sfugge al controllo dei tribunali di ogni tempo, insito nelle coscienze di chi sceglie la violenza come matrice di vita. Un libro di formazione civile per riflettere sulle «responsabilità individuali e collettive» riguardo al nazifascismo che vedono nel nostro paese un coinvolgimento non ancora chiarito del tutto in termini storici e umani.

Buchenwald - Stephan Pabst 2022-12-31

Kaum ein nationalsozialistisches Konzentrationslager hat nach 1945 eine derart vielfältige Literatur hervorgebracht wie Buchenwald. Zu ihr gehören ideologisch bis heute umstrittene Bücher wie der antifaschistische Bestseller Nackt unter Wölfen, die hochkanonischen Romane wie Semprún's oder Kertész, weniger bekannte Romane wie Adlers Das Panorama oder Ferdinand Peroutkas Wolke und Walzer, eine Flut vergessener ‚grauer‘ Bericht-Literatur, frühe Versuche einer soziologischen, politischen oder psychologischen Deutung des Lagers. Ebenso wie das Konzentrationslager Buchenwald selbst ist diese Literatur international. Buchenwald versammelte Menschen aus fast allen Ländern Europas. Viele von ihnen wurden aus politischen oder rassistischen Gründen deportiert, die nationale Grenzen überschritten. Die Literatur, die aus dem Lager hervorging, entstand also einerseits in nationalliterarischen Kontexten, bezog sich aber andererseits auf ein transnationales Ereignis, das sich mit transnationalen Fragen verband. Die Literatur des Lagers Buchenwald lässt sich daher nicht einfach nationalliterarisch einhegen. Trotzdem wies die Forschung in den letzten Jahren einen starken Zug zur nationalliterarischen Segmentierung auf, was auch dazu führte, dass sich die Wahrnehmung darüber hinaus nur auf sehr wenige kanonische Werke beschränkte. Der vorliegende Band versammelt Beiträge über die Literaturen, die an der europäischen Textgeschichte des Konzentrationslagers Buchenwald mitgeschrieben haben.

Gardens and Ghettos - Jewish Museum (New York, N.Y.) 1989-01-01

Jews arrived in the Republic of Rome some time in the second or first century B.C.E. They soon formed their own community which absorbed Roman cultural forms but was able to maintain its identity and integrity. For more than twenty centuries, the Italian peninsula has been home to the heirs of this ancient minority community, whose culture is a blend of traditional Jewish content with Roman, then Italian cultural forms. Gardens and Ghettos: The Art of Jewish Life in Italy is the title of an exhibition curated by Vivian B. Mann and Emily Braun for The Jewish Museum, New York (September 1989-January 1990), an exhibition that explores the extraordinarily rich artistic legacy of Italian Jewry. This book, like the exhibition itself, focuses on four time periods: the Empire, the Era of the City States (1300-1550), the Era of the Ghettos (1550-1750), and the period since the Risorgimento. Artifacts and architecture are generously represented along with fine arts. Essays by prominent scholars introduce us to the historical and cultural context of a splendid array of works, from ancient Roman architectural fragments and gold glass to illuminated manuscripts and printed books from the Renaissance, baroque ceremonial textiles and silver, and paintings, graphics, and sculpture of the modern era. The many illustrations illuminate the art and life of a minority community in dynamic tension with dominant society and show the vibrant, ongoing contribution by Jews to the arts of Italy. Interpreting in Nazi Concentration Camps - Michaela Wolf 2016-07-28

This significant new study is concerned with the role of interpreting in Nazi concentration camps, where prisoners were of 30 to 40 different nationalities. With German as the only official language in the lager, communication was vital to the prisoners' survival. While in the last few decades there has been extensive research on the language used by the camp inmates, investigation into the mediating role of interpreters between SS guards and prisoners on the one hand, and among inmates on the other, has been almost nonexistent. On the basis of Primo Levi's considerations on communication in the Nazi concentrationary system, this book investigates the ambivalent role of interpreting in the camps. One of the central questions is what the role of interpreting was in the wider context of shaping life in concentration camps. And in what way did the knowledge of languages, and accordingly, certain communication skills, contribute to the survival of concentration camp inmates and of the interpreting person? The main sources under investigation are both archive materials and survivors' memoirs and testimonials in various languages. On a different level, Interpreting in Nazi Concentration Camps also asks in what way the study of communication in concentration camps enhances our understanding of the ambiguous role of interpreting in more general terms. And in what way does the study of interpreting in concentration camps shape an interpreting concept which can help us to better understand the violent nature of interpreting in contexts other than the Holocaust?

The Gothic in Contemporary British Trauma Fiction - Ashlee Joyce 2019-09-05

This book examines the intersection of trauma and the Gothic in six contemporary British novels: Martin Amis's London Fields, Margaret Drabble's The Gates of Ivory, Ian McEwan's Atonement, Pat Barker's Regeneration and Double Vision, and Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go. In these works, the Gothic functions both as an expression of societal violence at the turn of the twenty-first century and as a response to the related crisis of representation brought about by the contemporary individual's highly mediated and spectatorial relationship to this violence. By locating these six novels within the Gothic tradition, this work argues that each text, to borrow a term from Jacques Derrida, "participates" in the Gothic in ways that both uphold the paradigm of "unspeakability" that has come to dominate much trauma fiction, as well as push its boundaries to complicate how we think of the ethical relationship between witnessing and writing trauma.
