The A-G Piano Book 2: Intermediate - Atin-Godden 2021-11

This is the A-G Piano Book Series - books of fun music for piano students! This series is generally meant to be used in combination with a piano teacher and for students aged 7 or older. The music is written to be learned by ear or by reading, and is heavily influenced by video game and film music. Explore a pirate cove, scope out a vampire castle, meet giant robots, and sing about pineapples! This is the second book in the series. It's for intermediate students to start playing some real piano pieces. Students in this book will learn about syncopation, different time and key signatures, and how to play more expressively. On the Methodology This a book for piano students with a teacher It is intended for slightly older piano students, 7+, but younger kids could enjoy it too! From a teaching perspective, it is written with the intention of decluttering music education. Every teacher has their own way of doing things and every student requires a unique approach to teaching. This book aims to provide educational materials and fun songs for students to play and learn from. The music has been written to be educational, but be rooted in contemporary aesthetics. Less classical, more like movie and video game music. This book is designed within a principal of minimalism. There are no teacher duet parts or long explanations of concepts. This music is designed to be more accessible to students who learn by ear and by pattern-recognition. When I was a piano student I always struggled with reading, but excelled at pieces where I could identify chord structures or patterns and then could just memorize it. I believe I'm not alone in this and a lot of other students are like this. This book is for them. In relation to a lot of other method books, the right hand has more shifting, and more difficult fingerings, but the left hand is much simpler. Fingering is often left up to interpretation deeper into the series. This book does very little hand holding. The whole series is structured a little bit like a video game. It gets a lot of the tutorials out of the way early on, and then focuses on teaching through experiential learning Please don't take this music too seriously! Change notes, add your own flare, play at your own pace, just have fun!
